That time of year

thou mayst in me behold

When yellow leaves, or none, or few, do hang

Upon those boughs which shake against the cold, Bare ruin'd choirs, Where late the sweet birds sang

In me thou see'st the twilight of such day,

As after sunset fadeth

Which by and by black night Doth take away,
Which by and by black night Doth take away

Death's Second self, That seals up all in rest. In me thou see'st the glowing of such fire, That on the ashes Of his youth doth lie, As the death-bed

That on the ashes Of his youth doth lie, As the death-bed

Where-on it must expire, Consum'd with that which it was nourish'd

where-on it must expire, Consum'd with that which it was nourish'd

This thou perceiv'st, Which makes thy love more strong,

To love that well, Which thou must leave ere long.
