1. O cru - ci - fied Re - deem - er, whose life-blood we have spilt,
2. Wher - ev - er love is out - raged, wher - ev - er hope is killed,
3. We hear thy cry of an - guish, we see thy life out - poured,
4. The groan - ing of cre - a - tion, wrung out by pain and care,

to thee we raise our guilt - ty hands, and hum - bly own our guilt.
where man still wrongs his bro - ther man, thy Pas - sion is ful - filled.
where bat - tle - field runs red with blood, our bro - thers' blood, O Lord.
the an - guish of a mil - lion hearts that break in dumb des - pair;

To - day we see thy Pas - sion spread o - pen to our gaze;
We see thy tor - tured bo - dy, we see the wounds that bleed,
And in that blood - less bat - tle, the fight for dai - ly bread,
O cru - ci - fied Re - deem - er, these are thy cries of pain;

the crowd - ed street, the coun - try lane, its Cal - va - ry dis - plays.
where bro - ther - hood hangs cru - ci - fied, nailed to the cross of greed.
where might is right and self is king, we see thy thorn - crowned head.
O may they break our self - ish hearts, and love come in to reign.
