Tr.  5

1. While men grow bold in wicked ways, And yet a God they own,
2. Their thoughts and ways at once declare, What-e'er their lips pro-fess,
3. What strange self-flattery blinds their eyes! But there's a hastening hour,
4. Thy jus-tice shall maintain its throne, Though moun-tains melt a-way;
5. Above the hea-vens' created rounds, Thy me-rcies, Lord, ex-tend;
6. Safe-ty to man thy goodness brings, Nor o-ver-looks the beast;

My heart with-in me
God hath no wrath for
When they shall see with
Thy judgments are a
Thy truth out-lives the

7. From thee, when creature-streams run low.
And mortal comforts die,
Perpetual springs of life shall flow,
And raise our pleasures high.

8. Though all created light decay,
And death close up our eyes,
Thy presence makes eternal day,
Where clouds can never rise.
